GREENED WHEN THISS; BOY EXPECTED STRAP

Sad Mother Started When Missing
Son Steals Into House.

When 16-year-old Raymond Kemp softly stole into the trim home of his parents at 413 Sixteenth street southeast last Saturday evening, to explain a two-day absence, he lifted a great weight off the mind of a startled mother who had been drawing mental pictures of the cold body of her son being dragged from drowning in the river. Kemp, who met with some other tragic end.

The boy timidly puffed into his home with expectations of being met with a strap, but when, instead of this, he was greeted with a breast of a thankful mother, he felt that he sincerely agreed with Mr. Shake-speare when it comes to "all's well that ends well."

The boy explained that Friday morning, he in company with three other boys, had taken a trip in a wagon to a dairy farm, some fifteen miles beyond the District line in Maryland. Night came down on them and the boys decided to remain till morning before starting back to the city. They left the next morning and arrived in the city about 4 o'clock in the morning. He had a couple of disturbing calls from his parents at that hour in the morning and waited till later before making known his presence. His fear of punishment led him to remain hidden from the sight of his parents during the next day, obtaining his meals by visits through the back window to the pantry.

Mrs. Kemp stated yesterday that the cause of her alarm was mostly the fact that always before the boy had been in the house before 9:30, or at the latest 10 in the evening.

G. P. O. PRINTERS SEEK INCREASES

Employees Will Ask Congress for Same Benefits as Day Men.

Action on protests against the decision of the Comptroller of the Treasury disallowing the 10 per cent wage increase to the employees of the night shift of the Government Printing Office, which has already been granted other Federal employees receiving salaries under $1,500, is under contemplation by the officials of Columbia Typographical Union.

According to the decision of the Comptroller, the night shift of the printer every day during the year would average a salary of more than $1,500, since they receive 20 per cent more for their services than the day workers.

On the other hand the men declare that the night shift is kept up only during the session of Congress and that at the station on the Pennsylvania Railroad, they become part of the day force. Therefore, they argue, they do not average the $1,500 per year as contended by the Comptroller of the Treasury.

The men realize that more has been done in the interests of the employees of the government during the present administration of the Comptroller and his predecessor than by any of the previous incumbents, but they hold the opinion that Congress meant the increase to moderate work with the men who do the same work during the day, and they declare that it is the day rate which should be made the basis for the raise in pay.

An amendment to the present bill, it was stated yesterday, will be brought up in Congress to the near future asking for the increase in respect to the decision of the Comptroller.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

District of Columbia and Maryland—Fair and warm. Tuesday, fair; continued warm; gentle to moderate west wind. Virginia—Fair Monday; warmer in east portion. Tuesday, fair; continued warm; gentle to moderate south wind.

Warm and fair weather will continue Monday and Tuesday east of the Mississippi River, except in the Upper Lake region, where thunder showers may be expected Monday night or Tuesday, accompanied by some relief from the prevailing high temperature. Off the North Atlantic and Middle Atlantic coasts there will be moderate southwest winds with fair weather.

INVASION OF RELATIVES MARS HOME LIFE OF NEWLY WEDDED COUPLES, PASTOR SAYS

Dr. Stewart Declares Woman Who "Dears" and "Honeys" Hubby and Can't Sew His Buttons Is a Sham and a Fraud.

"Man's love of 'wet goods' and woman's love of 'dry goods' are the real causes of trouble in the modern home," said Rev. Howard I. Stewart, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, 404 Fourth street and Virginia avenue, southeast, preaching last night on "How to Have a Happy Home."

When a young couple marry, the best advice he gave was to live by themselves. A home cannot be a home in a true sense of the word if there are other people, especially relatives, sharing the same dwelling. Young married couples should meet what trials there are bravely and alone. Then only can they successfully cope with the problems of married life and build up a happy home.

"The married relation would take care of itself if it was not for the married relations," said Dr. Stewart.

Bake-ology, boil-ology and cook-ology are the chief requirements in the education of the girl who would be a home-maker, he declared. Without these there cannot be a real home. According to the pastor, "a woman who cannot sew, cannot cook and will not or cannot sew buttons on his clothes, is a sham and a fraud."

"Add to all these the virtue of thrift and the happiness of true love, and the modern home can be made the happiest and most lovable place on earth," Dr. Stewart concluded.

When the pastor had finished his talk, a bouquet of gladioli was presented to the oldest married couple in the congregation.

The sermon was the third and last in a series of summer sermons under the general title "The Wedding Ring."

TO URGE TEMPERANCE IN ARMY AND NAVY

To educate the soldiers and sailors in the new American army and navy regarding the evils of the drink habit, "The United Committee on War Temperance Activities in the Army and Navy" has been launched by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, the World Christian League of America, and the Epworth League of America, and eleven other national or international anti-alcohol organizations, both Catholic and Protestant.

Harley H. Gill, of California, formerly national vice president of the Intercollaborative Association, has been named as executive secretary with offices in New York City.

Some of the best speakers in the nation have been engaged to visit these camps and address the men. A fund of $100,000 is being raised for the purpose of carrying the plans to a successful issue.

PROMISSORY NOTES STOLEN.

Walter M. Brown, operator of stands 610-11-12 Center Market, reports stolen a pocketbook containing two promissory notes, one for $100 and one for $10, both payable to himself.

For home use a billiard table top has been invented that can be changed to any table of sufficient size and leveled with screw blocks at each corner.

LOSES $100 IN BILLS.

James Thompson, 49 Washington street northwest, reports lost or stolen from his person $100 in bills and an Elks' pin.

Mrs. Newton D. Baker Leads Local Campaign

Mrs. Newton D. Baker, wife of the Secretary of War, is leading the Washington women in a campaign for discounts in return for passes carried home by the purchaser. Together with Mrs. Frank M. Roosevelt, chairman of the Washington headquarters of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, and Mrs. Harriet Blaine Beale, of the women's committee of the District Council of National Defense, she has laid the matter before the District body, which will take up the question with the Washington merchants.

RED CROSS RENEWS APPEAL FOR FUNDS

Point to German Killings as Stimulus to Contributions.

With the confirmation last night of the report of the bombing of German airplanes of a Red Cross hospital in Paris and the killing of four or five physicians and nurses, it is again brought home to the people of Washington that the Red Cross must contend with in this war. The finance committee of the District of Columbia chapter of the Red Cross earnestly hopes that the people of this city, the Capital of the nation, will not wait any longer to bring its allotment of the Red Cross war service fund up to the required amount.

It is felt that the news of this attempted destruction of a Red Cross hospital should stimulate to the utmost the giving to the Red Cross fund here in Washington, especially in view of the still larger sum of money that will be needed and the ultimate urgent need of the services of our Red Cross in the field and in the hospitals in France for the relief and care of our own soldiers and marines, as well as those of the allies.

Therefore, the message of the Red Cross finance committee of the District of Columbia, through Chairman Macfarland, to the people of Washington is: Do not wait. Give to the war service fund today. Those who can give largely should do so. If they have given, please give again. Such large gifts are needed, the small contributions are welcome and necessary. Cash or checks may be sent to The Herald, to any bank or trust company, to Chairman Macfarland, in the Evans Building, or to Cuno H. Rudolph, financial secretary, 1801 Massachusetts avenue.

LITTLE STORIES CONCERNING INHABITANTS OF THE ZOO

Only Horse of Its Kind.

Much interest was displayed yesterday, by the scores of Sammies who frequented the Zoological Garden in the Mongolian wild horse, which animal enjoys the distinction of being the only existing "wild horse" in the world.

Many of the soldiers, who are great lovers of horses, declared they could not see any evidence of the Mongolian wildness, as he ate grass most docilely from their hands, but several of them, members of the cavalry, pointed out to their companions those little marks which distinguish the average Old Dobbin from this rare thoroughbred of Mongolia.

At first glance, the wild horse appears to be a circus horse, so velvety in his pinkish skin and luxuriant mane. Upon closer scrutiny, however, one is divided in any expression of classification, as sometimes he strongly resembles a Shetland pony, sometimes a zebra, and at other times, he gives the impression that he must be cast from the mold of a pure Arabian steed. He has a white star, just above the center of his eyes, and his ancestors, it is said, inhabited the Tian Shan Mountains in Central Asia.

Famous zoologists, in addition to claiming for him the distinction of being the only one of his kind on the globe, state that he is probably one of the ancestral forms of the domestic breed. It has also been found by them that this breed of wild horse once existed as far west as Central France, where it was used for food by men in the Stone Age.

Steamboat Bill Celebrates.
"Steamboat" Bill, one of those rare tinted heron-like birds which have been enrolled in the bird house at the Zoo by Secretary Vulture, celebrated his birthday yesterday.

Neither "Steamboat" nor his mate could reckon exactly how old he is, but both of them were assured that yesterday was the correct day as were all of their feathered companions who have lived in the house for years.

From early dawn to midnight, the pair of Boat Bills exchanged billed greetings with their numerous friends, and their keeper, who may or may not have known of the boat bills were not to mourn, led several cacophonous birthday carols and cantatas.

Both "Steamboat" and his mate, who were presented in Zoological society by His Excellency Dr. J. Paes de Carvalho, governor of the state of Para, Brazil, when interviewed last night, declared the event the most enjoyable one they ever held.

Crane Becomes Democratic.
The "Crowned Crane," one of the last remnants of a tottering auto-crate power, which has long held sway out at the Zoo in certain circles
